

IACLEA Accreditation

Selected Success Stories

California State University-Northridge – Accredited since May 2008

"IACLEA Accreditation is a blueprint for best practices in campus public safety."

- Anne F. Glavin, Chief of Police

Wake Forest University – Accredited since May 2008

"When your department has met all of the requirements of the IACLEA Accreditation standards, it will earn you the respect of local law enforcement agencies. It is beneficial to the university to be able to state that it has an accredited public safety department."

- Regina Lawson, Chief of Police

Anne Arundel Community College – Accredited since September 2008

"Upon earning accreditation, the department was affected in ways that were both expected and unexpected. The process gave the college community and surrounding residential community confidence in the public safety team. It also limited the department's liability and risk exposure because of demonstrating an adherence to a recognized set of standards for campus security."

- Gary Lyle, Director

Western University – Accredited since May 2009

"Accreditation brings with it the confidence that standards are being followed in support of a safe campus, and there is consistency when dealing with a wide range of responsibilities."

- Elgin Austin, Director

Georgia State University – Accredited since January 2010

"Accreditation promotes positive growth, builds morale which leads to work efficiency. It also allows us to operate on common ground with surrounding agencies to increase the quality of services to the citizens of our community."

- Connie B. Sampson, Chief of Police

Johnson & Wales University – Accredited since April 2011

"The process of accreditation ensures that the campus safety and security function has the best opportunity to continuously sustain its important mission for our faculty, staff, and students."

- Michael P. Quinn, Executive Director

University of Wisconsin-Madison – Accredited since June 2012

"Being accredited ensures that we comply with national best practices. Our operations have actually changed little because we had robust procedures in place. The difficulty was we couldn't 'prove it' so that it would on its face not be challenged. Now we can show — we are among one of the best agencies in the country."

- Sue Rueling, Chief of Police
